

New record business in July

During the traditionally slow summer holiday season Kaleido this year completely exceeded its own expectations and recorded the largest July revenue ever in the 10 year history of the company.

Following a steady growth in month-by-month order intake all the way through the second quarter of 2011 Kaleido in July managed to manufacture, expedite and ship to customers a record-breaking volume of high-precision micro-optics and sub-systems setting this new revenue record.

“I am really impressed with the great effort made by everybody to help achieve this result” says Henrik Madsen, Head of Production and Product Management. The new record is achieved despite the challenges of vacation both in-house as well as amongst several of Kaleido’s partners and sub-suppliers.

During the 1st half of 2011 Kaleido has invested in more machinery and staff in order to deliver faster to customers its high-tech optical products and it appears that this initiative has now proven itself during this summer month of intensive and busy hours in the manufacturing department.
